

Kansas Independent Oil & Gas Association (KIOGA)

2022 State & Federal Legislative/Regulatory/Communication Agenda

We've Got Your Back!

Founded in 1937, the Kansas Independent Oil & Gas Association (KIOGA) is a nonprofit member organization representing oil and gas producers in Kansas, as well as allied service and supply companies.

KIOGA exists to promote the development of oil and natural gas resources in Kansas through bipartisan, common-sense solutions to challenges facing the oil and natural gas industry. KIOGA represents the interests of the oil and gas industry at the local, state, and federal levels of government. Our active presence before the Kansas Legislature, U.S. Congress, and state and federal regulatory agencies means that the concerns of independents like you are foremost in the minds of legislators and government officials. Our cooperative partnerships with the Domestic Energy Producers Alliance (DEPA), Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA), Interstate Oil & Gas Compact Commission (IOGCC) and others means the concerns of Kansas independent oil and gas producers are heard in Topeka and Washington.

KIOGA 2022 Legislative/Regulatory Objectives

KIOGA is here to help!

Our industry continues to face many challenges. We have powerful enemies that want to severely limit our access to abundant reserves of oil and natural gas, shut down drilling because of exaggerated issues, litigate us to death, and unfairly tax and regulate us to the breaking point. We are straining to adjust to a host of potential harmful issues that raise pointed questions about our industry's future.

The challenges we face today have grown both in number and complexity. Those who oppose American energy development at the state and federal level use environmental and regulatory issues to disrupt orderly oil and natural gas development and influence policymakers. They use these issues not to make energy development better, but to impede or stop oil and natural gas development.

KIOGA proudly works with leaders in the Kansas Legislature, U.S. Congress, and state and federal regulatory agencies. KIOGA's efforts in government affairs is unparalleled.

Though we face many familiar legislative and regulatory challenges in 2022, KIOGA stands stronger and more united than ever to face these obstacles and seek meaningful opportunities to evolve and succeed. To be a member of KIOGA is to be among the premier oil and gas companies in Kansas and across the nation.

As a professional advocate for the Kansas oil and natural gas industry, KIOGA has used our significant advocacy experience and talent to form strong and productive bipartisan relationships with state and federal policymakers as well as state and federal regulatory agencies.

The bottom line is that unsound policies, regulations, and public perceptions threaten the profit and growth opportunities of every company in the oil and natural gas industry. Companies need the best and latest advocacy and public outreach efforts. That is what you get with KIOGA.

For the oil and gas industry, the challenges never end. Let KIOGA be your partner in success. We provide unmatched public policy advocacy and a powerful voice for you in state and federal government.

KIOGA

Government Relations

With nearly 3,000 members, KIOGA is the lead state/national advocate for the Kansas oil and gas industry. KIOGA identifies and interprets public policies and regulations that are fundamental to our member's success. Our quick analyses and evaluations of issues and concerns result in significant arbitrage value for KIOGA members who benefit from our substantial first-mover advocacy advantages. We engage on state and federal regulatory issues and meet with key state and federal policymakers on policy issues. We continue to build relationships and work with allies at the state and federal level. Finally, we litigate when necessary.

Three major success drivers set KIOGA apart from other oil and gas groups and make us the lead state and national advocate for the Kansas oil and natural gas industry: 1.) Intellectual Capital; 2.) Volunteerism, and; 3.) Leadership.

Letter from KIOGA President Edward Cross

For over 160 years, the oil and gas industry has been a vital part of Kansas's way of life and at KIOGA our goal is to help ensure our industry thrives well into the future.

KIOGA's vision is simple - to promote the development of Kansas's oil and natural gas resources for the betterment of society. We recognize that our members truly are the fabric of many communities throughout Kansas. KIOGA members not only employ and support over 100,000 Kansans and their families with good-paying jobs boosting our state economy, but also pay significant taxes and often make significant charitable gifts that support communities and general overall well-being of our state.

Through rigorous engagement at the state and federal level, KIOGA works to create a more stable and predictable political and regulatory environment for our members. We are committed to being a positive, credible, and proactive voice for industry, promoting respectful dialogue and education to advance oil and gas interests at the state and federal level.

In 2021, our mission manifested itself in many positive ways:

Legislative Success: KIOGA engaged in 17 legislative issues impacting the Kansas oil and gas industry. We successfully opposed a proposal to create a State Energy Plan that sought to pick winners and losers among energy sources. KIOGA was instrumental in helping get an abandoned well measure passed. That bill, brought by the Kansas Corporation Commission (KCC), consolidated two industry fee funds, instilled regulatory certainty into abandoned well responsibility, and established a program to reimburse non-responsible parties for plugging abandoned wells. At the federal level, KIOGA engaged key policymakers to provide fact-based information to pull back the curtain on the ideological-driven processes the Biden Administration is using to justify an avalanche of costly policies and rules.

Regulatory Success: Engaged the KCC on issues concerning KCC budget, temporary abandonment, potential regulatory amendments, and more. At the federal level, KIOGA continues to push for an exclusion for low-volume wells in EPA's new methane rules and engaged USFWS on Lesser Prairie Chicken concerns.

Public Outreach: KIOGA provided 17 webinars to bring informative content to guide future business and policy decisions. We also spoke at 15 public forums, engaged in over 50 media inquiries, and provided 13 editorials to media across Kansas and the nation.

It is only with your support that we were able to accomplish these goals. KIOGA wants to build on this momentum in the coming year and your support allows us to continue to proactively engage state and federal policymakers and regulatory officials to aggressively defend our industry and promote the development of Kansas's oil and natural gas resources.

KIOGA takes our charge seriously and pursues excellence on your behalf each day. KIOGA is an investment in our energy future.

KIOGA 2022 State Legislative Strategy

The core focus of KIOGA's work at the Statehouse during the 2022 legislative session will be on protecting the Kansas oil and gas industry from increased costs while also defending industry gains made in recent years.

Energy & Environment: KIOGA supports a rational, data-driven, common-sense approach to energy policy that recognizes our best energy future can only be achieved through a true all-of-the-above energy strategy. We will:

- Oppose any legislation designed to stop oil and gas production or measures that have very little environmental benefit but high associated costs. This includes restrictions on hydraulic fracturing, waste management, emissions, injection wells, or other measures designed to stop oil and gas production.
- Support legislative study/action on the competitiveness of Kansas energy rates, including electric generation deregulation.
- Oppose mandates and policies that increase costs when sourcing energy.

- Oppose policies picking winners and losers among energy sources and technologies.
- Support efforts to limit or block federal regulations which over-reach and impose undue expense and regulatory burden on the Kansas oil & gas industry.
- Encourage the least restrictive method of regulation that supports the goal of protecting the public without limiting business activity.
- Oppose measures to limit the availability of partition to mineral owners.

Taxation: KIOGA will urge the legislature to reduce cost of doing business, and will:

- Oppose any measures that target oil and gas industry for increased local or state tax base.
- Support measures that reduce government spending instead of increasing the cost of doing business through tax increase.
- Support tax policies that treat all energy sources equally, allowing market demand drive efficiencies.

KIOGA 2022 State Regulatory Strategy

State regulatory engagement is a core focus for KIOGA as we work to protect operational certainty across the state. KIOGA works to improve & maintain relationships with decision makers and key stakeholders across the state's regulatory bodies.

Our regulatory efforts emphasize engagement at all levels with state regulatory agencies, including but not limited to, the Kansas Corporation Commission, Kansas Department of Health & Environment, Kansas Department of Revenue, Governor's Arbuckle Study Work Group, and more.

In 2022, KIOGA will continue efforts on active regulatory initiatives and engage in future regulatory policy developments affecting Kansas.

KIOGA 2022 Federal Legislative Strategy

KIOGA is fully engaged in advocacy in Washington, D.C. and takes our issues directly to congressional policymakers. We have met with over 350 federal policymakers over the last 12 years as well as key agency decision makers and have developed positive credible relationships with many key Democrat & Republican members of Congress. KIOGA works with our allies at the Domestic Energy Producers Alliance, Independent Petroleum Association of America, Liaison Committee of Cooperating Oil & Gas Associations, Council for a Secure America, U.S. Global Leadership Coalition, National Stripper Well Association, and others to engage not only in advocacy, but also legal challenges.

KIOGA's bipartisan approach to addressing key federal tax & regulatory issues has gotten more important and will be critical going forward. We have developed significant positive relationships with key Democrat & Republican policymakers that make us one of the most effective voices in Washington for small onshore independent oil & gas producers.

KIOGA continues to engage to address energy policy challenges, flaws in the "Green New Deal", and providing facts about oil & gas industry emissions.

Taxation: KIOGA worked very hard in 2017 to educate members of Congress about the importance of retaining percentage depletion and intangible drilling cost (IDC) tax provisions. These efforts paid off as these key tax provisions were retained. In 2020 and 2021, challenges to oil & gas tax provisions again emerged. KIOGA engaged early-on meeting with Key Congressional policymakers to provide a foundation and resource for credible information regarding these critical tax provisions. Going forward in 2022, KIOGA will oppose any federal legislation that eliminates or changes key oil & gas tax provisions.

Infrastructure Improvements: KIOGA supports the expansion of natural gas, NGL and crude oil pipelines to transport domestic products to market.

Free Markets for All Energy: KIOGA opposes picking winners and losers in energy, but supports letting the market work. KIOGA supports federal energy and tax policies that treat all energy sources equally, allowing market demand to drive efficiencies. KIOGA supports energy policy decisions based on science, the free market, and entrepreneurial spirit.

KIOGA 2021 Federal Regulatory Strategy

KIOGA federal regulatory efforts emphasize common sense regulatory policy. One of KIOGA's top federal regulatory priorities is providing the EPA with the data, science, and information needed to shape methane emission regulations to recognize low-production well emission profiles. KIOGA opposes any listing of the lesser prairie chicken (LPC) under the Endangered Species Act but instead supports positive solutions that protect the LPC without causing unnecessary harm to the livelihoods of people across Kansas.

In 2022, KIOGA will work to improve and maintain relationships with decision makers and key stakeholders across federal regulatory bodies. KIOGA will continue efforts on active regulatory initiatives and engage in future federal regulatory policy de-

KIOGA 2022 Communication Strategy

Few doubt that energy has improved lives and enabled human progress. Yet one of the biggest challenges facing the world is the polarized debate over the future of energy. Facts and economics are too often replaced with assertions and emotions. An informed public has never been more necessary.

For years, KIOGA has served as the primary source of information on issues ranging from oil and gas taxation, environmental issues, energy policy, economic impact of the oil and gas industry and more. As the debate around oil and gas production continues to resonate around the country, KIOGA continues to provide fact-based scientific information to inform policymakers and the public about the economic and environmental benefits of safe and responsible oil and gas development. However, we recognized early-on that responding to public concerns about oil and gas issues with technical information alone did not address the visceral concerns of the public.

In response, KIOGA launched our Next Step to Raising Energy Awareness campaign in 2017. This program combines technical, fact-based, scientific information with explanations of how integral responsibility is to industry actions. In addition, the communication strategy demonstrates how oil and gas lift people up by enriching life experiences and enhancing the quality of life for all people. The program empathizes with people's concerns, shows leadership in addressing those concerns, and underscores the considerable extent to which industry and societal values align all of which help foster public trust and support.

Since being launched, KIOGA's Next Step to Raising Energy Awareness program has taken the Kansas oil and gas industry to a new and unprecedented level of communication and public engagement. Through aggressive public outreach efforts including speaking engagements, editorials, media interviews, and more, KIOGA has moved the oil and gas industry from merely having a dialogue with policymakers and the public to the forefront of a multidimensional public education effort. It is working! KIOGA has spoken at 15 public forums, engaged in over 50 media inquiries, and provided 13 editorials to media across Kansas and the nation in 2021.

KIOGA's 2022 communication strategy is to highlight the issues that often get buried underneath the political positioning. KIOGA's public outreach efforts work hand-in-hand with our government relations programs to enhance the effectiveness of KIOGA's advocacy efforts.

There is a very real opportunity to create a stronger, more effective connection with the American public that recognizes their values and concerns and allows them to understand better the critical role that oil and gas play in America's everyday lives. This type of connection is more than an opportunity. Earning the trust of the American public will become an absolute necessity to protect and enhance the many key elements of business success - from recruiting and retaining talent to access to capital, regulatory stability, tax fairness, and more.
